CHURCH AFFAIRS.

—Rev. George O. Barnes and family will sail for Scotland, July 10.

—Elders E. C. Wells and M. W. Harkins closed a meeting at Tilton Christian church with 35 additions.—Paris Kentuckian.

—The Kentucky Baptist association, which has been in session at Owenton adjourned Tuesday to meet at Williamsburg in November, 1892.

—Rev. Geo. O. Barnes and family are at Richmond holding services. It is expected that they will visit friends in this city next week.—Lex. Press.

—Thirteen hundred delegates are present at the International Sunday-School convention at Pittsburgh, representing 112,892 schools, with 1,178,301 teachers and 9,149,997 scholars.

—The Baptist Preachers' Association at Atlanta expressed great confidence in the christian character of Rev. McCutcher, but mildly condemned him for beating his wife. A beautiful christian character to have.

In 1804 there were 35 translations of the Scriptures in existence. Since the formation of the British and Foreign Bible Society in that year ten millions of money have been expended in the work of circulating the Bible, and there are now, counting dialects as well as languages, nearly 300 translations of the Scriptures.

—Rev. W. Y. Sheppard will preach at the College chapel next Sunday night at 8 o'clock. A cordial invitation is extended to the public to attend. Mr. Sheppard is desirous of building up an Episcopal church here and especially requests members of that body and those whose predilections are that way to assist him in the work.

A Great Volcanic Eruption in Alaska.

A recent dispatch from San Francisco brings word that Bogoslov, the Alaskan volcano that rose from the ocean depths about seven years ago and blazed and smoked for a time, is again in eruption.

This recent eruption began February 10, and has continued at intervals. April 17 and 22 there were signs of great activity, smoke and flame pouring from the lofty crater and rising to a great height. The sky for weeks was clouded with ashes, and these fell in liberal showers in the town of Ilulik, 44 miles to the eastward.

To the people who saw the eruption it seemed a pillar of fire and smoke fully 15 miles high, rising from the horizon and losing itself in the low clouds.

Professor Davidson, of the Coast Survey, estimates that the volcanic pillar must have been sent up to a height of at least four miles above the sea.

Capt. Everett Smith, of the steam whaler, Orca, passed near the scene soon after the first eruption. He noted that four new islets, each detached, but near the volcano island, had arisen from the depths. As the ocean bottom here, off Bogoslov, sounds 844 fathoms, and there is a depth of 1,200 fathoms about 12 miles away, an idea may be gained of the tremendous energy required to raise an islet from the ocean bottom to the surface.

Heat of the Moon.

A problem of great interest in physics and astronomy, on which Tyndall, Lord Rosse and Professor Langley labored in vain, has been solved, and trustworthy evidence at last been obtained as to the thermal value of moonlight. This has been accomplished by Mr. C. V. Boys, one of the professors at South Kensington, who, by means of his quartz filaments, has produced a thermopile of almost incredible delicacy. By this apparatus he can render sensible the heat of a candle up to the distance of 1½ miles, and by directing the minute disk of the instrument to the moon he has shown that the warmth received from its reflected light is equal to that given out by a candle at 21 feet distance. The result accords with the anticipations of Prof. Piazzi Smyth. Observation seems to show that, although the moon's face is under the blaze of an unclouded sun for 14 days, it remains comparatively cool, and that whatever heating it does ultimately receive is rapidly gained and as rapidly lost.—London Standard.

Mr. Stanley's future mother-in-law is a handsome widow, enjoying the large fortune left her by her late husband, a Parliamentary lawyer. Mr. Gladstone and other personages of the Liberal party are frequent guests at her table, and more than one coronet has been offered and refused by her two beautiful daughters. Her only other child, a son, is a mild young man, who shows none of the intellect of his sisters. He is engaged to be married to the daughter of a country squire, and will probably appear at the altar of Hymen at the same time as his sister.

A holiday was offered to the boys at Eaton on condition that they would discover an English word containing all the vowels in regular order. In a very little while one of them shouted out, "Abstemiously" and another, "Facetiously," amidst the plaudits of their companions.

Waist Deep in Money.

Tom Kelly, the ticket seller of Barnum's circus, is as much a specialist in his peculiar line as any, strictly speaking, professional man. The whole process of receiving the money, giving the ticket and making the change is done in three movements with the regularity of clock-work. The ticket window is about four feet above the bottom of the wagon. Mr. Kelly sits upon a high stool with a large sum of money in dollars, halves and quarters piled upon the shelf on his right. A corresponding shelf on the left is covered with tickets and half tickets. All this is arranged before the window is opened. A line of several hundred impatiently clamoring people wait outside. Mr. Kelly climbs upon his stool, takes a long, deep breath and opens the window.

Money is received in his right hand and dropped upon the floor. The thumb of the left hand has in the meantime pushed a ticket from the pile and the right hand has selected, mechanically, the change and presented it to the purchaser. No attempt is made to pile up the money received. It is literally dropped and when the show commences Mr. Kelly sits like a buoy surrounded by a sea of money, the crests of whose waves mount up to and press closely around his waistband almost on a level with the window ledge. After the performance commences and no more people want tickets, Mr. Kelly closes the window and steps carefully over this bed of money. Then, and not till then is any attempt made to count and assort this sum, which amounts to several thousand dollars in pieces of all denominations.—New York Press.

Uses For Coffee.

It is asserted by men of high professional ability that when the system needs a stimulant, nothing equals a cup of fresh coffee. Those who desire to rescue the drunkard from his cups will find no better substitute from spirits than strong, new-made coffee, without milk or sugar. Two ounces of coffee, or one-eighth of a pound, to one pint of boiling water makes a first-class beverage, but the water must be boiling, not merely hot. Bitterness comes from boiling too long. If the coffee required for breakfast be put in a granitized kettle over night, and a pint of cold water poured over it, it can be heated to just the boiling point, and then set back to prevent further ebullition, when it will be found that while the strength is extracted, its delicate aroma is preserved.

AN ENFANT TERRIBLE IN CHURCH.—Recently a lady took her little boy to a church in Leeds. He was a very little boy, and it was his first visit to church. The organ began to play and the child turned to his mother and asked in a loud whisper:

"What's that, mamma?"

"Hush, dear, it's the organ."

"An organ in church?" whispered the small boy, evidently much astonished and impressed.

Then a pause of expectation, and a clergyman, small of stature, appeared in gorgeous vestments.

"Oh, look, mamma!" called out the infant, in clear accents. "Is that the monkey?"—Leeds Mercury.

When water once begins to boil, it is impossible to raise its temperature any higher; all access of heat is absorbed by the escaping, as so called, latent heat, and is given out again when it condenses. We often speak of seeing the steam escaping from the mouth of a kettle, but this is incorrect—steam is an invisible vapor, and we can no more see it than we can air. What we do see are the minute drops of water into which the steam condenses on coming into the cool air. If we boil water in a glass flask, we shall notice that nothing can be seen on the interior; and by observing the steam escaping from a kettle we shall notice that there is quite a distance between the end of the spout and the point where the cloud becomes visible. This cloud of steam is of exactly the same nature as the clouds which float in the sky, and which are formed by the condensation in the cold upper regions of aqueous vapor in the air.

We hear a deal about overwork in these days. In all professions and callings multitudes are complaining that they are driven to death. In some cases this ground is well taken, but in most cases it is not overwork, but overworry, or overeating, or needless exposure, or overindulgence of the appetites that is sending the people to the hospital, madhouse and premature graves. Body and mind are so constituted that they will endure an immense amount of work if proper care is taken of the health.

A few days ago three families of Finlanders settled on farms in the northern part of Beadle county, South Dakota. In one of the families there are 19 children, in another 17 and the third 9, the parents of the last family having been married but 10 years. These families will soon be joined by four others, all relatives, numbering 46 persons, making a total of 97 persons in 7 families.

NOTHING TO LAUGH AT.—Mr. Bloom— "What were the boys all laughing so heartily over?"

"Why didn't you laugh?"

"It was on me."—Chicago Times.

WAYNESBURG.

—W. L. Dishon's mother, 80 years of age, and son, Ezra, 16 years old, died this week.

—Rev. J. N. Bowling, of McKinney, preached two excellent sermons here last Sunday on the subjects of Heaven and Hell.

—Col. W. H. Miller and Hon. G. M. Davison, of Stanford, and John E. Dye, a young lawyer from Estesburg, are here on legal business in Squire M. H. Gooch's court. S. P. Gooch has gone to Clinton county in the interest of the Oxley Slave Co. G. R. Waters, of Boyle, is here talking pianos and organs to our folks.

—Varnon, Carpenter and Cooper, of Stanford, were here last week on official business, but on account of Judge Varnon's illness very little good resulted from the trip. Joe Paxton was here last week shaking hands with the "dear people" and it is said that every man in this precinct is for him. Some of Gooch's relatives and warm friends here are trusting that he will not make the race for county clerk as they are pledged to Cooper.

Ignorance in High Places.

A comical incident at Constantinople illustrated what thin ice those that use the press have to walk upon under the rule of the Sultan of Turkey, states the New York Independent. There is a Greek benevolent society in Constantinople which recently had occasion to publish a pamphlet on its work, and on the title-page there was put a quotation from Paul's Epistle to the Galatians. Very soon after it appeared a police officer came to the printing office and demanded of the editor that he should give him information as to who this Paul was who had been writing letters of the people of Galata (one of the suburbs of Constantinople), as he had orders to get a copy of these letters and to bring the aforesaid Paul to headquarters. The editor explained that Paul could not be brought to headquarters; he was dead. But the functionary retorted that his orders were to bring Paul, and if he could not bring Paul to bring the editor. It was of no use to protest that Paul had been in Heaven for eighteen hundred years; and the editor was taken to headquarters and put in prison for several days, until finally the Greek Patriarch interfered and presented the bureau of censorship with a copy of the letter of Paul, which he showed was addressed not to the people of Galata, but to a province of the ancient Roman Empire. The funeral services were held at the Second Presbyterian church Thursday evening at 5 o'clock; burial in Danville cemetery.

HUBLEY.—Almost all about ready to finish up harvest. D. N. Prewitt sold a lot of hogs to some parties in Garrard for $40. Mrs. Lucinda Ball died at a good old age a few days ago. L. G. Hubble sold his On Time horse to Pony Beazley for $190. The beef club began here last week and if you will call in any Friday evening you can hear about it. J. P. Burnett made an assignment last Saturday to Joel Walker. The indebtedness is about $600 and amount of goods about the same. Wesley Sutton sold to John Wood his 2-year-old colt by Messenger Chief for $125. George Camper has moved to Danville. Dave Walker will soon take a position in the new bank of Lancaster. We hope it will be to his interest to do so, as he is an excellent boy. Robert Austin's child died a few days ago and we extend to father and mother our sympathy. Mrs. Arnold is making his stage line a success through here.

GREEN-BRIAR AND DRIPPING SPRINGS.—HOTEL KATYDID.

TO APPLICANTS:—I have secured all the help I need and have had over 20 applicants for the position of clerk alone; so it is utterly impossible for me to reply by letter. Mr. Gastineau, of Lexington, has the position as clerk in the store and Mr. Heller, of Ohio, as hotel clerk. The Katydid will positively open on the 1st day of July and the Grand Picnic will be on the 4th. Everybody invited.

Respt., D. G. SLAUGHTER.

INDECISION is a fatal weakness of character. Some people seldom decide even in childhood, to take a philosophical view of things.

Little Brother—"See that pretty bird out there in the rain! I wish he would go to sleep in the grass so I could catch him."

Little Sister—"Why don't you wish he'd go to sleep on the sidewalk, 'cause then you could catch him without getting your feet wet?"—Youth's Companion.

VALUE OF A PASSENGER TRAIN.—But few persons who view a passenger train as it goes thundering past have an idea that it represents a value of from $75,000 to $150,000, but this is the case. The ordinary express train represents from $83,000 to $90,000. The engine and tender are valued at $10,500; the baggage car, $1,000; the postal car, $2,000; the smoking car $5,000; two ordinary passenger cars, $10,000 each; three palace cars, $15,000 each—total, $83,000. Many of the trains which pull up to or out from the Union depot in this city are worth $150,000.—St. Louis Republic.

We hear a deal about overwork in these days. In all professions and callings multitudes are complaining that they are driven to death. In some cases this ground is well taken, but in most cases it is not overwork, but overworry, or overeating, or needless exposure, or overindulgence of the appetites that is sending the people to the hospital, madhouse and premature graves. Body and mind are so constituted that they will endure an immense amount of work if proper care is taken of the health.

Some of the best and most profitable farming is done by the head, around the fire, after the evening meal is over. Our farmers, as a rule, are not accustomed to doing as much of this part of farming as they should do. Begin now, and improve your time more in this line. Think over what is not done, but needs to be done at once, and to-morrow see that is done.

A fine head of virgin gold-colored hair will bring from $200 to $500, according to its length and luxuriance, and to those who have it and are anxious to convert it into hard cash, it may be pleasing to hear that there are orders in advance for all that can be produced of this description for the next five years.

DANVILLE, BOYLE COUNTY.

—Mr. J. C. Rardin, proprietor of the Gilcher Hotel, has purchased a hotel in Catlettsburg and will move to that place before long and take charge of the property.

—A goodly number from here will attend the basket meeting at Fork Church, in Garrard, next Sunday. The object of the meeting is to celebrate the semi-centennial of the first Sunday-school organized in that neighborhood. Mr. John K. West is the only living person who was a member of the first Sunday-school. Several big guns are on the programme for addresses.

—The erection of a new public school-house will be begun in a short while. A house that will cost $10,000 or $12,000, of modern style, to be built large enough to accommodate all the children who attend, will be erected. The site is on the ground where the present school-house stands. This will fill a long felt want, and children that have not attended on account of an over-crowded house, will now go.

—A death that was a surprise and a shock to the entire community occurred Tuesday evening, at 4 o'clock, when Dr. O. Beatty passed unexpectedly away. He had only taken sick the evening previous to his death and only a few knew that he was ill. He died of congestion of the stomach. He was 75 years old and was considered a very active and sprightly man for his age. Dr. Beatty was one of the most prominent and best men in Danville and his loss will be deeply felt. He was connected with Centre College as teacher and president a greater part of his life. The funeral services were held at the Second Presbyterian church Thursday evening at 5 o'clock; burial in Danville cemetery.

IT is a great mistake to fix the mind on the future life in such a way as to forget the duties and proprieties of this life. Some men are intent on getting to Heaven, but they overlook the fact that one must be meet for Heaven before he can get there. If one is to be a king in Heaven he must be a king here. No one will wear a crown hereafter who has not been faithful over the few things which were committed to him on the earth.

In a recent speech Congressman Atkinson, of West Virginia, said: "If all the ports of entry on both oceans were to-day blockaded so that no vessels could enter them bearing the products of other countries, and war should be declared against us, we could, with our present facilities, produce every munition of war and every article that we might need for our sustenance for a thousand years."

The uses of electricity extend. An electric flatiron is one of the new things under the sun. The iron is hollow and the wire passes into the centre and is so arranged that when the electricity is turned on the flat face of the iron is kept at an even degree of heat—just sufficient to do good work.

The Kentucky Editors Capture Winchester And Immediately Join the Enemy.

WINCHESTER, June 25.—The beautiful little city of Winchester has been captured by the Kentucky editors, supported in solid phalanx by their wives, sisters and sweethearts and are now in peaceful possession. A detachment composed of Judge L. H. Jones, J. M. Rash and the great and only Thomas G. Stuart was sent as far as Lexington, bearing a flag of truce and offering not only to surrender unconditionally everything the city had in sight, but to produce anything the editors wanted and didn't see. The train came in from Louisville loaded to the guards and the others were more or less crowded, and when at 3:10 p. m. Col. E. Polk Johnson, president of the association, called it to order in the decorated Opera House, about 75 papers were shown to be represented, some by as many as three or four persons, making the aggregate attendance over 150, and while Wolf & Trost's band played some lively airs they stepped up to the secretary's desk and settled their dues.

Col. Leeland Hathaway delivered the welcoming address, which was excellent in tone and heartfelt in delivery, and which was responded to by Col. Johnson, who as usual said the right thing in the right way.

Both President Johnson and Secretary Walton having declined re-election, the following officers were then chosen: Mr. Urey Woodson, of the Owensboro Messenger, president; H. A. Sommers, of the Elizabethtown News, vice-president; H. E. Thompson, of the Paducah News, secretary, and that honest and upright old scribe, Ben Harrison, of the Henderson News, treasurer. T. H. Arnold, of the Middlesboro News, was chosen annual orator and T. G. Watkins, city editor of the Courier-Journal, poet.

At the night session, Mr. James W. Hopper delivered the annual oration and it goes without saying that it was an effort worthy of the ripe scholar and tireless student that he is. Quite an animated flow of oratory followed the invocations of Paducah and Middlesboro for the association to meet with them next year, in which Col. Johnson and Messrs. E. O. Leigh and Arnold participated. A ballot was taken and Paducah won, though Col. Arnold charged that the box had been stuffed against the Magic City. In the absence of Mr. T. O. Chisholm, his poem was well read by Miss Ella Ragsdale, of Bowling Green. Mr. T. G. Watkins, city editor of the Courier-Journal, next read a graphic and entertaining paper entitled, "How We Gathered the News—A Tornado Story," and at 10:30 an adjournment was had till next day, when all hands and the cook are to be taken on a special train over the wonderful country through which the Kentucky Union is being built. A banquet at night, a picnic Friday, a hop that night and a goodness-knows-what-else are on the programme.

Winchester's doing her level best to please the boys and is succeeding admirably.

The father jumped to the rescue, the nephew following, and all three were drowned. The daughter remained in the boat and was saved.

Mrs. Alice Shaw has signed a contract to go to St. Petersburg and whistle for the Czar and nobles. The inference is that the Czar has done so much whistling to keep up his courage that he has got tired and is willing to pay some one else to do it for him. The handsome American will do it most charmingly.

George Watson has been arrested at East Milton, Mass., charged with drawing a pension in his own name and also in the names of Joseph Smith, Henry Rogers, Frederick Baggott and Charles Andrews, all deceased veterans of the Mexican war. He only got caught up with when he applied for a pension in the name of James Johnson, who happened to be already drawing a pension in New York.

Parker Harris, Ed Carr and Hardy Ballard, colored, and Frank Brenish, white, were hanged Tuesday morning at Memphis, the colored murderers taking the plunge into eternity together at 11:24 o'clock, and the white man dropping at 12:22. Arrangements had been made to swing the four together, but Brenish objected to being hanged with the negroes and his desire to die alone was gratified.

The Senate and the House have finally agreed on the dependent pension bill and the president's signature is all that is necessary for it to become a law. As it stands, the bill grants pensions to all veterans of the war who are unable to support themselves. It will require an estimated expenditure of over $75,000,000 the first year. Added to the regular appropriation bill this will give the veterans about $200,000,000 annually, with more to come.

Ben Thompson, city marshal of Austin, Texas, who was killed in a hand-to-hand encounter with Kingfisher in a theatre in San Antonio, had the terrible record of having killed 13 white men and over twice that many Mexicans and Indians. His wife had but one arm. The other had been shattered by a Winchester ball in Denver, when she threw it across her husband's head upon discovering a crouching form drawing a bead on him.

Charles H. Taylor, a colored lawyer of Atlanta, who was minister to Liberia, had his hand shattered.

During the Cleveland administration, proposes to take the colored voters of the United States over to the democratic party in a body. Taylor has perfected a plan for a convention to be held in Atlanta next month, to be composed of colored delegates from each State in the Union. The proposed convention as announced by Taylor is to decide upon the plan of preparing figures to prove to the colored people of the country that they have never received any favors from the republican party and never will receive any. In an interview Taylor said that he had invited a number of States, North and South, in the interest of his plan and everywhere finds most of the educated blacks in full sympathy with the movement. They begin to realize, he says, that they can never hope to be more than mere voting machines while they remain in the republican party, and that their real friends are the democrats. Taylor thinks fully 1,000,000 colored voters will vote the democratic ticket at the next national election.

Rich Without Money.

Many a man is rich without money. Thousands of men with nothing in their pockets, and thousands without even a pocket, are rich. A man born with a good, sound constitution, a good stomach, a good heart and good limbs and a pretty good headpiece, is rich. Good bones are better than gold, tough muscles than silver, and nerves that flash fire and carry energy to every function are better than houses and land. It is better than a landed estate to have the right kind of a father and mother. Good breeds and bad breeds exist among men as really as among herds and horses. Education may do much to check evil tendencies or to develop good ones; but it is a great thing to inherit the right proportion of faculties to start with. The man is rich who has a good disposition, who is naturally kind, patient, cheerful and hopeful, and who has a flavor of wit and fun in his composition.

The hardest thing to get on with in this life is a man's own self. A cross, selfish fellow, a desponding and complaining fellow, a timid and care-burdened man—these are all born deformed on the inside. They do not limp, but their thoughts sometimes do.—Clay Manufacturers' Engineer.

I notice one thing," says an observant manufacturer, "and that is hard good logs, especially oak, that have been placed in the water immediately after cutting and allowed to thoroughly soak, make brighter lumber with less tendency to sap stain, than that from logs that are left on the ground for several months. I find, also, that in green logs, if sawed immediately after cutting, and the lumber is thoroughly steamed preparatory to placing in the dry kiln, the same results will be obtained, greatly enhancing the value of the lumber for fine finish purposes."

Gov. McCleary is announced as a candidate for re-election to Congress from the 8th district and we presume he will have no opposition. The governor is one of the ablest men on the democratic side of the House, and if the democrats have a majority in the next House—and we think they will—he is the best equipped man in that body to fill the Speaker's chair. He is cool and self-possessed, a fine parliamentarian and his rulings at all times would be honest and fair to all concerned.—Catskillburg Democrat.

Big BUSINESS.—During one day and night of this week 92 trains passed Stanford over the Louisville & Nashville. They must have kept the train dispatchers busy indeed.

HON. JOHN D. WHITE passed up the road Tuesday and in response to our inquiry said he had not fully determined to become a candidate for appellate clerk. He thought that Mrs. Henry would make a better clerk than either himself or Longmoor and if Longmoor would give her a clear track he would also. If he runs he says it will be as an independent, so as to give the dissatisfied the chance they seem to be longing for.

THE weather during the last several days has been hotter than before. A good shower fell here Wednesday evening which cooled the atmosphere so that sweltering humanity was enabled to get one good night's rest in two or three weeks, but yesterday was about as hot as ever. Reports come from almost every State of high temperature and many deaths from heat. The signal service promises no abatement, but rather worse and more of it.

The genealogical or family tree, including the names of all the heirs of the famous Fisher estate, some 1,800 or more, has been completed by Miss Mattie L. Fisher, of Danville. Letters have been received from Judge Allan Murray, who is now in Germany, and also from the German authorities, who state that the Fisher fortune is no myth; that the money is really there, and that it will be paid over to the rightful heirs upon proper proof. This the descendants are endeavoring to prove and are sanguine of success.

RESIGNED.—Mr. A. G. Wainscott has resigned his position as mail messenger on the Kentucky Central and Mr. A. N. Rice, of Jessamine, has been appointed to succeed him. Capt. H. B. Jenks was here Wednesday making the transfer. Mr. Wainscott finds that the pay is not in proportion to the work and besides it keeps him from his family too much.

THE Masonic Lodge of Woodstock, in Pulaski county, gave a picnic Tuesday, which was attended by a crowd estimated at 2,500. Judge J. G. Carter, of Mt. Vernon, and Rev. A. J. Pike addressed the assembly. There was no lack of good things for the immense crowd to feast upon and the only unpleasant feature of the occasion was the extremely hot weather. Mr. John Blankenship, of this place, was in attendance.

DEATHS' DOINGS.

—McROBERTS.—Yesterday morning at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Bettie Frith, at Brodhead, of flux and bronchitis, Mrs. Ellen S., wife of George T. McRoberts, died at the age of 73 years. She was conscious to the last and fully prepared to meet her God. In the language of one who has known her for many years, "she was one of the best and kindest women in the community in which she lived." Mrs. McRoberts was born and raised in Boyle county and was a Miss Gaines. She joined the Christian church when only 14 years of age, under the preaching of Elds. J. T. Johnson and John Smith and lived a Christian in reality as well as in name. She was married to Mr. McRoberts in 1842, and raised five children, all of whom are living. Her remains will be brought to Mr. Tom McRoberts, where services by Eld. Jos. Ballou will be held. Burial immediately afterwards in Buffalo Cemetery.

The latest addition to the British navy, the "Victoria," is said to be the largest war vessel at present ready for active service. She cost over $4,000,000, and carries a crew of 589 officers and men.

Died, Lived and Died.

Last week Miss Pollie Lunsford, of Gaddistown, Union county, aged 16, was taken suddenly ill, and Dr. Jones, of this city, was summoned to her bedside. He pronounced her illness due from cold and exposure, and told the mother of the young lady that there was little chance of her daughter's recovery. For three days the young lady grew worse, and on Tuesday morning she, to all appearances, died. The neighbors and friends of the family had gathered in, and the body of the dead girl was prepared for burial. Her arms were crossed over her breast and her eyelids closed. No color of life was visible in her cheeks. Her hands and face were cold as if dead. Her pulse had ceased to beat. The coffin was sent for.

But as the mother and friends of the deceased sat around her inanimate form and mourned her as dead she suddenly returned to life. Unaided she arose from her bed and went to the water bucket and drank a glass of water. Then she asked her mother and brother to kneel with her in prayer, which they did together with all those present. The girl made a fervent prayer, asking God to direct her mother and brother in the path of right. After the prayer she sang and talked with her mother for about an hour, when she told those about her that she was going to die—that she felt the death angel's touch. Hardly had she uttered the words than she fell back upon her pillow and expired. Those about her were astonished; the mother was loth to have her daughter buried, thinking that she might yet be in a trance and would return to life. But she was really dead this time and on Wednesday evening was buried.—Athens (Ga.) Banner.

Progressive Japan.
It is an odd fact and one not generally known that shortly after the idea was promulgated in this country to divide the whole country into sections having the same time, this idea was adopted in progressive Japan. Japan was divided into districts known as the Tokio, Kioto and Nagasaki districts.

At the appointed day the clocks in each district were turned ahead or back, as the case might be, in every town or village throughout the Empire. There was no choice allowed to a city, but every city was ordered by an imperial decree to adopt the standard of the district in which it lay.

It is a strange fact that we so often confound the Japanese with the Chinese. There is no reason for this except that they are neighbors and belong to similar types of the human race. In all other respects there is no more similarity than we bear to the Russians. The Japanese are very amiable and fond of foreigners; the Chinese are ill tempered and detest foreigners; the Japs are scrupulously clean in their food and person, the Chinese are just the reverse; the Japanese are open and fair in their dealings with other people, while the Chinese are treacherous and deceitful. These differences might be carried out until they include nearly all the characteristics that a people possess, and the result would always be the same. The Japs are on the bright side and the Chinese on the reverse of the medal.—Times Tattler.

She Soared Too High.
A young fellow was inquiring of Officer Button at the Third street depot about the train for the North, when the officer queried in return:

" Didn't you come in this morning?"
" Yes."
" With a young woman?"

" Yes."
" I thought so. I took you for a bridal couple."

" Yes, so we were."

" And you are going back alone?"

" That's what's the matter. We were married day before yesterday and came here on a tour. She was all right when we got here, but in about an hour we had a fuss. She wanted a diamond ring and I couldn't buy it. Diamonds! Just think of it! I've got $25 in cash and 20 acres of land, and expect to have to live on beans for the next six months to pull through."

" Where is she now?"
" Over at the hotel. I left her money to pay her bill and get home and she can stay or come. Better have this thing decided at the start, you know. Some folks are built to wear diamonds, and some to eat Johnny cake. I'm a Johnny cake. There's my train. If she comes in to take the next train just see her aboard, but don't encourage her any. It's a row to see who shall boss, and the best man is going to win.—Detroit Free Press.

OBJECTION TO THE SIZE.—It was a very affectionate husband who uttered the most literal interpretation of sentiment on record.

" I believe," said his wife, proudly, after some great instance of his unselfish devotion, " I believe you would let yourself be cut into inch pieces for me!"

The husband looked doubtful.

" Make the pieces six inches, Mary," he returned, honestly, " and maybe I could stand it better."—Youth's Companion.

Wanted

SALESMEN to sell Nursey

Button at the Third street depot about the train for the North, when the officer queried in return:

"Didn't you come in this morning?"

"Yes."

"With a young woman?"

"Yes."

"I thought so. I took you for a bridal couple."

"Yes, so we were."

"And you are going back alone?"

"That's what's the matter. We were married day before yesterday and came here on a tour. She was all right when we got here, but in about an hour we had a fuss. She wanted a diamond ring and I couldn't buy it. Diamonds! Just think of it! I've got $25 in cash and 20 acres of land, and expect to have to live on beans for the next six months to pull through."

"Where is she now?"

"Over at the hotel. I left her money to pay her bill and get home and she can stay or come. Better have this thing decided at the start, you know.

Some folks are built to wear diamonds, and some to eat Johnny cake. I'm a Johnny cakist. There's my train. If she comes in to take the next train just see her aboard, but don't encourage her any. It's a row to see who shall boss, and the best man is going to win.—Detroit Free Press.

OBSTRUCTED TO THE SIZE.—It was a very affectionate husband who uttered the most literal interpretation of sentiment on record.

The husband looked doubtful.

"Make the pieces six inches, Mary," he returned, honestly, "and maybe I could stand it better."—Youth's Companion.

Died, Lived and Died.

Last week Miss Pollie Lunsford, of Gaddistown, Union county, aged 16, was taken suddenly ill, and Dr. Jones, of this city, was summoned to her bedside. He pronounced her illness due from cold and exposure, and told the mother of the young lady that there was little chance of her daughter's recovery. For three days the young lady grew worse, and on Tuesday morning she, to all appearances, died. The neighbors and friends of the family had gathered in, and the body of the dead girl was prepared for burial. Her arms were crossed over her breast and her eyelids closed. No color of life was visible in her cheeks. Her hands and face were cold as if dead. Her pulse had ceased to beat. The coffin was sent for.

But as the mother and friends of the deceased sat around her inanimate form and mourned her as dead, she suddenly returned to life. Unaided she arose from her bed and went to the water bucket and drank a glass of water. Then she asked her mother and brother to kneel with her in prayer, which they did together with all those present. The girl made a fervent prayer, asking God to direct her mother and brother in the path of right. After the prayer she sang and talked with her mother for about an hour, when she told those about her that she was going to die—that she felt the death angel's touch. Hardly had she uttered the words than she fell back upon her pillow and expired. Those about her were astonished; the mother was loth to have her daughter buried, thinking that she might yet be in a trance and would return to life. But she was really dead this time and on Wednesday evening was buried.—Athens (Ga.) Banner.

Progressive Japan.

It is an odd fact and one not generally known that shortly after the idea was promulgated in this country to divide the whole country into sections having the same time, this idea was adopted in progressive Japan. Japan was divided into districts known as the Tokio, Kyoto and Nagasaki districts.

At the appointed day the clocks in each district were turned ahead or back, as the case might be, in every town or village throughout the Empire. There was no choice allowed to a city, but every city was ordered by an imperial decree to adopt the standard of the district in which it lay.

It is a strange fact that we so often confound the Japanese with the Chinese. There is no reason for this except that they are neighbors and belong to similar types of the human race. In all other respects there is no more similarity than we bear to the Russians. The Japanese are very amiable and fond of foreigners; the Chinese are ill tempered and detest foreigners; the Japs are scrupulously clean in their food and person, the Chinese are just the reverse; the Japanese are open and fair in their dealings with other people, while the Chinese are treacherous and deceitful. These differences might be carried out until they include nearly all the characteristics that a people possess, and the result would always be the same. The Japs are on the bright side and the Chinese on the reverse of the medal.—Times Tattler.

She Soared Too High.

A young fellow was inquiring of Officer Button at the Third street depot about the train for the North, when the officer queried in return:

A nickel-in-the-slot machine in Boston confronts the equestrian who alights at the sidewalk with the legend written across its front: "Drop a nickel in the slot and I'll hold your horse." He puts in the nickel and the iron hands unclasp the bridle rein is dropped into them and they close again. There you are. The horse is held. The rider goes off about his business. In half an hour he returns. There is the machine and there is the horse. But the first legend has disappeared and in its place is the inscription in characters of living light: "Give me a quarter and I'll let him go."—Cor. Chicago Herald.

The counting of the census in the census bureau is done by electrical machines somewhat similar to a type-writer, one machine doing the work of ten counters by the old method, and also indicating by an electric current the aggregate on a dial placed on the wall. It is impossible for the machine to make a mistake, and moreover it is easy to operate. New York is the first to send in returns, and about 42 districts will be counted first from that State. Mr. Holleth, the inventor of the electric tabulating machine bearing his name, has 40 machines now ready to begin work.

We call the presiding officer of the House of Representatives "The Speaker" because the English did so in giving a title to the head of the House of Commons, and they chose that name because that officer is the spokesman of the House when addressing the sovereign.—Chatter.
